

HP EDUCATION ACCESSORIES

ENABLE TRUE LEARNING EXPERIENCES

Inspire students to learn everywhere, all the time

Technology in the classroom

Devices built for education enable new learning styles and new ways to communicate. E-books, interactive calendars, assignment tracking, and even online homework and testing extend the educational experience outside of the campus while adapting to the ways students and educators interact in this day and age.

25–30%

Increase in graduation rates with adaptive, personalized learning¹

81%

of students use mobile devices to study²

67%

of middle school students and 56% of high school students want to use mobile devices for education more²

Built for schools. Designed for learning.

We strive to reinvent the ways students learn and teachers teach, because we believe when total access combines with true learning, meaningful social and economic outcomes result for schools and communities.

- Technology innovation and blended learning approaches for school administration
- Rugged, reliable design that brings peace of mind to IT departments
- Collaborative instructional environments that engage students for teachers
- Latest devices and appealing form factors that match the lifestyles of students

Making the case for mobility

Thin, light, and made for the way you move, these durable cases help keep devices protected from food fights and bumpy bus rides.
