85% of breaches involve a human element.

The threat protection package that protects your people and works for your small or medium sized business

We know that 85% of breaches involve a human element*. It's far easier to trick someone into giving you access than to force entry into your business systems, which is why attackers target people. Without a secure email gateway, it's much easier for threats to get through to your users. According to Gartner, only 10% of security spend is focused on email security—part of the reason email is still the number one threat vector organizations face.

One particularly target-rich environment that many businesses have embraced over the last 2 years is Microsoft 365. The focus, understandably, has been to enable users to work from anywhere, on any device. But how do you ensure your people are protected and secure wherever they are? Did you know E3 security from Microsoft 365 doesn't include basic protections like URL defense or attachment defense?

When you're managing IT for an SMB, you have so many other things to worry about in a single day, it's hard to know where to start with email security and threat protection. You need a solution that takes that stress away.

What does this solution look like?

No email gateway can keep every threat out. Make sure you have the best available threat protection package, and you will be off to a great start. This should include world-class security to match your world-class collaboration tool, Microsoft 365.

To build even stronger layers of security around your business, make users another line of defense. Protect people wherever they're working and whatever device they're using by educating users to stay safe and alert.
