Complete Distance Learning Solutions from HP

Embracing Your New Normal

Today, teachers and administrators are analyzing and adapting their curricula and resources to move to long-term distance learning. IT specialists have been challenged to strengthen infrastructure for maximum speed, efficiency, and security in this expanded remote environment. HP has a wide variety of notebooks, monitors, print devices, and accessories that can create an ideal home learning environment for students and teachers alike—and ensure everyone stays securely connected and productive.

And thanks to our more than 30-year partnership with HP, Connection can deliver their product offerings along with our solutions and services to provide robust, comprehensive solutions for your entire organization.

- Connection's Technology Integration and Distribution Center: Cut down deployment times with services that ensure each device is ready for any user, right out of the box.

- HP Security: Trust the world's most secure PC and Printers with protection below, at, and above the OS.

- HP Proactive Management: Manage your devices, their health, and their utilization in a single dashboard.

- Flexible Device as a Service: Get technology that's always up to date with one affordable payment each month for your total solution.

Find the Right Solutions for Your Students and Educators

Student, K–12

- Elementary, middle, and high school students
- Elementary focus is on basic literacy, numeracy, and early stage physical development
- Middle school: students begin to do more on devices and participate in digital testing
- High school: students work on complex discipline-specific projects, often collaborating with others and producing/creating a variety of learning artifacts (presentations, videos, etc.)
